Arthur Curley, Dorothy Broderick : Building Library Collections before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Building Library Collections:

This sixth edition of the classic first produced by Carter and Bonk 25 years ago has been restructured and revised to reflect the major changes in collection development theory and practice in recent years, especially the increased emphasis on collection development. New topics include the growth of resource-sharing networks, the importance of nonbook formats, the greater complexity of censorship challenges, and the expansion of the library's potential informational role.

The new editors are well known and well qualified. Their reinterpretations and revisions will give Building Library Collections the vitality and currency for continued usefulness. (Library Science Annual)A welcome addition to the literature of collection development... (Rtsd Newsletter)
