Ashley Eden : Political Missions to Bootan before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Political Missions to Bootan:

This Mission to Bhutan is a political discourse about the relations between British India and one of its northern neighbors. The period is towards the end of the eighteenth century, when little was known about this landlocked Himalayan kingdom.

About the Author The Hon. Sir Ashley Eden KCSI CIE (13 November 1831 - 8 July 1887) was an Anglo-Indian official and diplomatist. In 1863, Eden was promoted to be special envoy of the state to Bhutan. In 1870, he was elected first civilian governor of Burma.
